

Certificate

The Institute Construction and Environment (Institut Bauen und Umwelt e.V.) and its members are committed towards sustainable building. Joint projects focus on analysing the ecological performance of building products across their entire life cycle and on the basis of scientific principles. Transparent disclosure of all information including a full life cycle assessment (LCA) is performed on the basis of internationally agreed standards such as ISO 14025, ISO 21930 and EN 15804.

Thanks to their responsible commitment, our members stand for maximum quality demands as regards future-oriented, sustainable building.

Our member RHEINZINK GmbH & Co. KG

is an official partner for sustainable building.
